FEEDING DIRECTIONS

Producers Show Beef Starter/Grower is designed to be an optimum starting and developing ration for bulls, heifers and steers, especially those fed for longer than 150 days. Feed 10-36 pounds per head per day depending on desired rate of growth and to provide between 100 and 360 milligrams of lasalocid per head per day. When starting animals on feed for the first time, provide plenty of roughage for the first 14 days to help animals adjust to a higher concentrate diet. Once animals have adjusted to the feed the roughage may be reduced to smaller quantities that will aid in preventing acidosis and other digestive disorders without reducing performance. Clean out feeders regularly and provide plenty of fresh, clean water at all times.

Switch to Producers Show Beef Finisher 120-160 days prior to showing to improve degree of finish.

WARNING: A withdrawal period has not been established for this product in pre-ruminating calves. Do not use in calves to be processed for veal.

CAUTION: The safety of lasalocid for use in unapproved species has not been established. Do not allow horse or other equines access to feed containing lasalocid as ingestion may be fatal.
